About Suvretta House

Switzerland's legendary grand dame hotel, Suvretta House emerges from the trees of the Upper Engadine Mountains as if from the pages of a fairy tale, with impressive turrets and a Belle Époque exterior standing out against the rugged valley landscape. Located in a natural park in the sunny Suvretta-Corviglia skiing and hiking region, two kilometres kms from St. Moritz, the luxury hotel was built in 1911 by Swiss hotel pioneer Anton Bon and has remained in the Candrian-Bon family to this day. The ski-in ski-out, century-old property upholds old-world traditions and is open seasonally during the winter and summer months. An adjacent ski lift is available to transport guests to miles of challenging ski runs during the winter months, while during the summer season, endless options exist for exploring the region by foot, bike or horseback. A tennis pro is on hand for lessons on the hotel's three clay courts, and golfers can choose from three nearby courses. A driving range, putting and pitching green are also on property. With 181 rooms and 10 spacious suites, as well as a 1,700m² wellness and spa area with a 25-metre indoor swimming pool, outdoor whirlpool, sauna, steam bath, gymnasium, hair atelier and extensive beauty and body treatments on offer, Suvretta House is an alpine oasis of rest and recuperation. The Grand Restaurant has 16 Gault Millau points with Chef Fabrizio Zanetti serving market-fresh French cuisine and the cosy Suvretta Stube offers authentic Swiss dishes. Anton's Bar, the Club Bar and Lobby each serve cocktails and light fare. Nearby Restaurant Chasellas, and the two mountain restaurants Trutz and Chamanna, also belong to Suvretta House.
